Five year balance sheet

THE fifth anniversary of the Six Day War falls today. The most important change and sign of progress since 1967 is one whose significance cannot be accurately described or even esstimated, for it consists of the swhole spectrum of easier relations with the inhabitants of the "West Bank, and even of Jordan ound in the Arab countries be-Liond.

This has been marked, first s, fall, by the busy quiet that bhas reigned in the West Bank, to he great number of Arab summer visitors, about 150,000, who thave applied to come to Israelgcontrolled areas this year, the high percentage of votes cast in i the recent local elections in the West Bank, and even by the tentative attempt made by King Hussein of Jordan to plan for some kind of peaceful coexistence in the future.

These results do not sound dramatic - particularly to our critics abroad - but it may not be much longer before it is generally realized that the openbridges policy and the deliberate and patient search for cooperation and better human relations have done what could never have been achieved by the mechanical "return" of the occupied territories and restoration of the 1967 situation.

There is hope for the future in this situation, not least for the inhabitants of the West Bank area. They are better off, Bank area. They are better off, economically, than ever in the past, but that is not the sole criterion. Whatever political shape our relations with the Palestinians may finally take, and it is still too early to know this, the elections have already constant the way for more gap. opened the way for more genu-ine local self-rule than the area ever enjoyed under a Jordanian administration frightened of the large Palestinian element in its population, and therefore dis-

Moshe Dayan suggested here yes-terday that the West Bank municipalities begin to plan development projects for the coming 10-15 years. Mr. Dayan was speaking at the City Hall where he went to con-gratulate Mayor Sheikh Mohammed Ali Ja'abari and the Council on their re-election in the municipal vote held last month. Sheikh Jaabari and his nine colleagues were voted back by acclamation.

The Defence Minister's remark on a long-term development project drew startled looks from the city fathers, who appeared to have taken the statement as a hint that the status of the territory is unlikely to change within that period, "I am serious," Mr. Dayan stressed while advising the audience to free themselves of illusions.

In reply to Sheikh Ja'abari's expressions of concern over plans to enlarge the nearby Jewish set-tiement at Kiryat Arba, Mr. Dayan promised that the Israelis would in day no way confront or compete with per compensation. "Let anyone who believes he has been deprived of such compensation step forward and his cleim will be settled," Mr. Dayan told the audience.

'GRECHKO TOOK PLANE BACK TO MOSCOW'

Gaddafi says Egypt has no TU-22s

Jerusalem Post Arab Affairs Reporter Libyan head of state Mu'ammer Gaddafi yesterday ridiculed reports that the Soviet Union had supplied

Egypt with the TU-22 supersonic hombers. Gaddaf said that the TU-22 flown, together with Mig-23s, at an air display staged before Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Soviet Defence Minister Marshal Andrei Grechko during the latter's visit to Cairo last month, had been brought to Cairo for show. "But when Grechko left Cairo, he took that plane back with him to Moscow," Gaddafi said while adding "we simply don't have that plane yet."

The Libyan leader also criticized the Soviets for withholding offensive arms from Egypt in an inter-view with Beirut's daily "An-Nahar" on the eve of the fifth anniversary of the Six Day War.

Gaddafi's comments showed him to be at odds with his Egyptian allies regarding the Russians, which probably is the reason for the indefinite post-ponement of the Egyptian-Libyan-Syrian summit meeting called by Sadat for early this month.

Gaddafi's attacks on the Soviet Union included a statement that the Arabs were "disillusioned with Moscow's concern over their interests." "Who knows," Gaddafi said, the Middle East crisis "may rank tenth or even hundredth in the list" of Soviet topics. The Libyan leader accused the Soviets of "defusing the crisis" in the Middle East to maintain their interest in the region. He said the current Middle East cease-fire was "unjustified and meaningless."

"I believe that the battle should begin immediately," Gaddafi said, recalling the fifth anniversary of the Six Day War constituted "a feast of victory for the enemy. It stands out as a shame for us.

"We must abolish that feast and erase that shame," he said. Gaddafi added that he disagreed with the Arab rulers who regarded the crisis with Israel as that of territories occupied in the 1967 war. "The crisis began with handing over Palestine to the Jews" in 1948, Gaddafi said.

SAN JUAN (AP). — Acting Gov-ernor Fernando Chardon called on the Puerto Rican people to control their anger, reminding them that what is needed is forgiveness for last Tuesday's massacre of 16 Puerto Ricans at Tel Aviv airport.

In a news conference at the governor's mansion, the acting governor referred to the alleged threats received by Lebanon's Consul in Puerto Rico, Salibe Tartak, as well as by Japanese living on the island. Thirty-five Japanese had already left the island by late Friday.

Mr. Chardon added that neither the Lebanese and Japanese living on the island nor their governments were responsible for the terrorists' acts.

U.S. NAVY REBUTS CRITICS | Photos show ON SEA POWER BALANCE

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP). - Firing back at critics who claim the Pentagon is crying wolf, the U.S. Navy's top admiral says the Soviet Navy poses "a serious challenge to our previous superiority at sea."

Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr., Chief of Naval Operations, accused Scnator William Proximire, Democrat of Wisconsin, of using "biased and conceptually flawed" research to support Proxmire's assertions that the Pentagon misleads the American people about the present and future naval balance between the Super Powers.

Zumwait's 24-page letter and analysis, sent to Proxmire on Friday was the Navy's first major counterattack in a growing dispute over the Nixon Administration's plans to strengthen the U.S. fleet. Main target of critics, led by Proxmire, is a request for authority to spend $3.6 billion for new warships.

In a Senate speech in May, Proxmire said the U.S. leads the Soviet Union in almost every naval category and that "current building programmes will keep us on top." The Wisconsin Senator challenged Zumwalt to prove otherwise. ing planes to defe In response, the Navy chief told enemy warships. Proxmire his conclusions overstate ... As it now stands, Zumwalt said, the Soviet Navy has about 568 major surface combat ships and subma-rines compared to 378 for the U.S. Furthermore, Zumwalt said the Soviet fleet is far newer than the U.S. Navy, with U.S.S.R. vessels averaging nine years in age while U.S. Navy vessels are 16 years old on the average,

Dubious' analysis

Zumwait said he was "dismayed at the dubious quality of the analy-tical work on which some of your condemnation of the Defence Depart-ment was apparently based." The data, Zumwalt alleged, "bas been qualified or selected in such a way

Among other things, Zumwalt said naval elements "important to a fair comparison are simply omitted." A Japanese extremist, who trained with Arab terrorists in Lebanon, took a number of snapehots, not realizing that they would later serve as the first concrete evidence of the cooperation between the Arab and Japanese terror groups.

The photographs were tracked down after the massacre at Lod Airport last week by the British newspaper the "Daily Mail." An agent of the "Mail" remembered that he had seen a picture of Arab terrorist Leila Khaled together with Japanese radical Fusako Shigenobu, 26, which had appeared in a Japanese newspaper.

A check revealed that the picture was one of a series taken by a Japanese leftist who had trained with the Arab terrorists in Lebanon. He agreed to sell the photographs to the "Mail" in return for royalties. He refused, however, to reyeal details about where thepictures had been taken, beyond saying that it had been a fortified training camp run by the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine.

These pictures, reprinted from "Ma'arly," indicate that Miss Shigenobu is the mysterious Miss June, who acted as liaison officer between the Japanese extremists and the Popular Front.

a second treaty between Poland and West Germany, and a third accord, covering Berlin and signed by the Big Four.

Two main effects flow from these agreements, First, West Germany now accepts the eastward advance of Poland and Russia, at the expense of former German lands.

The agreements secondly imply the permanent division of Germany into two states. East Germany is to be taken into the United Nations. From there to recognition of East Germany is only a small step. The Moscow summit advanced the process of German settlement in two ways. The final communique smiled favourably on what has already been done as a good example of "fruitful cooperation."

Moreover, President Nixon accept-ed the Soviet proposal for a Ekropean security conference to be held "without undue delay" --- that is, probably early next year. The main purpose of that meeting in Russia's eyes is to get all the interested parties - in Western Europe and Eastern Europe and North America - to sign onto the German deal that Mr. Brezhnev has cut.

Grand design

The Russians are expecting that Mr. Brezhnev himself will go to that conference. They are talking now about the possibility that the American president, whom they confidently expect to be Mr. Nixon, will also attend.

At that point, Mr. Brezhnev will have achieved a truly grand design - the full consolidation of the victory Russia won in World War II and the general acceptance of Soviet supremacy in the socialist commonwealth. It is not surprising that Mr. Brezhnev is pleased, and that he is asserting his gains both in Eastern Europe and in North Vietnam.

As to the West, Mr. Brezhnev's gains only put into contractual form what was a condition of fact. We have not lost anything we were prepared to fight for. Still there is now special reason to stick together. For it may be that Mr. Brezhnev, having gained so much already, may be tempted to push a little further in asserting Russian hegemony in those two weak spots on the fringes unfolds its lyrical contents smooth- of his domain - Yugostavia and West Germany.

"Paperless" pre-authorized entries arise from the existence of recurring payment obligations which can be discharged by direct entries. Three general categories of such antries generated cheegeness of shift entries have been defined: credits generated through periodic payments, for example the payment of wages and salaries; debits ge-nerated through fixed billings, such as a flat-rate periodic charge for services or merchandise; debits ge-nerated through variable-amount billings which are usually not ques-tioned, such as electricity, water and talephone bills.

THE 20th anniversary of the Arab boycott office this year has brought some heart-searching ap-praisals of its efficacy. The Cairo weekly "Akhbar el-Yom" published an interview with Mohammed Majoub, chairman of the boycott ortion, in which he was asked bluntly whether the effort is worthwhile. In Amman, a study of the economic effects of the boycott by Fuad Hamdi Bseiso was published by the Jordan Central Bank, The issue gained topical flavour on ac-count of Egypt's and Lebanon's nesolitions with the EEC, in which the clause banning boycotts created a stumbling block. # OPPOSING REVISION IN THE LAW OF RETURN

The organizations representing Conservative and Reform Judaism hereby urge the government of the State of largel to reject the misguided advocacy of those who seek to revise the Law of Return. Their intention is to exclude all converts and their progeny accepted into the Jewish people by Reform and Conservative rabbis, and even by Orthodox rabbis whose credentials are not recognized by the Israell Chief Rabbinate

When the Law of Return was revised in 1970, the Knesset in its wisdom understood that yielding to the pressures of some Orthodox Jewish leaders would have deleterious consequences for allys and for the sense of participation of non-Orthodox lewish communities in the drama of Israel. The very same considerations should govern the action of the government of Israel at this time.

in the United States, non-Orthodox lews are in the overwhelming majority. Orthodox, Conservative, Reform, secular and Zionist organizations work side by side in coordinating umbrella agencies founded on the principle of Jewish unity through mutual respect for ideological diversity. It cannot be that the pluralism which characterizes lewish life in the diaspora should be subverted in the lewish state by a small minority of lews, nor that the State of Israel should be used as a tool to impose the authoritarian will of a small minority on the majority of Jews outside its border.

The Jewish world cannot tolerate a paradox where persons who consider themselves lews in every respect should discover that in fulfilling the act of aliya to Israel they are thereby disqualified from membership in the Jewish people.

The Orthodox rabbinate is motivated by concern for preserving their. monopolistic control over the Halacha and of using the Halacha to reinforce their political power.

Let none be misled by the Orthodox contention that a revision in the Law of Return is essential to assure the unity of the lewish people. The contrary is true. The consequence of their proposed revision would be to divide the lewish people at the very time when solidarity is so essential to its well being. A prime task of our generation is to gather in the excles, to breaden the dimensions of lewish Life ... to include, not to exclude.

We call upon the Government of Israel to maintain the integrity and democratic spirit of Jewish life and so to conduct its affairs as to enhance the love of all lews for Eretz Yisrael and Medinal Yisrael.

We, therefore, urge the retention of the Law of Return in its present form.

Soviet Jews protest in Paris

Jerusalem Post Correspondent PARIS. - Hundreds of leading French public figures flocked to the femorial to the Unknown Jew last week in a display of support for five Soviet Jews who held a two-day fast here in protest against the long fast terms passed on members of their families at the notorious Leningrad and Riszan trials The hunger strikers were Golda Grilius, whose son Simeon is serving five years, Marie Knokh, whose husband is jalled for ten years, Mina Altman, whose husband Ana-toly is also held for ten years, Poline Kornblit whose husband Mikhall is imprisoned for seven years and Israel Zalmanson.

Mr. Zalmanson's niece Sylva has been sent to the Potma Prison Camp for ten years and her husband, Edward Kuznetsov, was sen-tenced to death before this penalty was commuted to 15 years special detention. Sylva Zalmanson's bro-thers, Israel and Wolf, are also serving 10 years' sentences.

Among those who came to the Jewish memorial to express their solidarity with the hunger strikers and the prisoners were suthoress Simone de Beauvoir, singer Juliette Greco, Roman Catholic church leader Father Riquet, writer Clara Mai-raux, film directors Claude Berri and Jules Dassin, Chief Rabbi Jacob Kaplan and Beate Klarafeld, the "Nazi huntress."

LONG-LOST BROTHERS: Two brothers who had never seen each other, though one is 76 years old, had an emotional meeting in Migdal HaTemek last week. Two months ago Shmuel Menker, 56, immigrated from Vilns, and after settling in Migdal HaTemek, asked the Jewish Agency to look for any relatives in Israel. "I did this," he said, "be-cause my late mother once told me that I had an elder brother who disappeared, before I was born, when the Germans left Vilna during World War I. The Agency found Shmuel's brother, Max, 76, right, who immigrated from Morocco seven years ago. (Israel Sun)

No passenger ships are due today, but three are scheduled to arrive on Tuesday - the Israell m.s. Nili, the Italian s.s. Enotria and the Greek s.s. Sounion. The last is due to arrive directly from Beirut with 250 American Baptist pilgrims who are coming for a four-day visit, with the Wholesales Tour company, which also brought the Puerto Rican pilgrim group who were involved in the terror attack in Lod last week.

Security measures are also being stepped up at Ashdod Port, but no details were given.

TEL AVIV:

The Jerusalem Municipal Council last night approved an inise of 25 per cent in the ar ore ma (rates) for homes, and 40 per cent for business premises. The Municipality expects to show a deficit of IL7m in the 1972/73 budget, instead of the ELSm. deficit it had enticipated had the increase been 40 per cent across the board. The increase is effective retroactively from April 1 of this year.
